Understanding The Importance of Our Blue Part

The naturally sensitive nature of the blue part of our personality provides the strengths of sensitivity and caring about the feelings of others. Our blue side helps us to be successful in life because this part wants to build positive relationships from our most authentic self. When we say “come from your heart”, we are using the blue side of our character. It is the blue part of us that promotes peace and strives to minimize conflicts by creating harmony. It has been said “blue is the glue” that keeps people together in supportive ways. If your blue is high, you are a natural nurturer who desires to help make the world a better, kinder place. The saying “do you need a hug?” shows the blue side of ourselves. When we share words of affirmation and/or display warm, physical affection or give gifts just because we care, it comes from our blue character. Our blue side is a good listener and a sensitive communicator, qualities that help everyone to succeed.
